The Boston Sculptors Gallery presents RING, our annual members group exhibition. “Always a crowd pleaser, this year’s theme circles around the concept of ‘ring,’” explains Director Almitra Stanley. “Featuring the diverse talents of our 36 sculptors, the exhibition offers innovative, engaging and affordable work in myriad styles and media.

A ring is an abstraction, a circle, the most quintessential archetypal form. Yet its connotations are as profound as geometry, metaphysics, and infinity, while simultaneously as mundane as a gasket, a hula-hoop, or a donut. A ring can be as ethereal and evanescent as a plume of smoke or expanding rings of water, or as concrete as millstone.

But what happens when the ring is broken? Or linked. How does a ring both include and exclude? It can symbolize wealth, commitment and joy, or be that which binds, enslaves, strangles. Ringers ring bells that peal with joy, rooms ring loudly with the sound laughter. And some words quietly ring of truth.

From diamond rings to coffee rings, this exhibition offers something for everyone. Priced from $100 to $1000, the works are “cash and carry,” with a 10% discount for first time collectors. Join us and ring in the new year with a purchase of art!
